

WALT: research key ingredients and understand where they come from.

Today we are going to be conducting our own research about the key food/ingredients that we will be using during this topic. We will be thinking about where foods came from, what country they originate from, whether we are able to get them in the UK now and if the season affects the availability of these foods in the UK.

Take a look at the two types of cakes which we will be looking at during this topic.
