

The Unusual Egg

Opening

Katie knew something wasn't right when she found more than she expected under her dad's favourite duck.

For two days and two nights she read the egg stories.

On the second night, the egg started to wobble. Something was opening, and it certainly wasn't a duck...

Build up

When the turtle saw Katie, it gave a squeak of happiness. Katie didn't speak turtle, but she knew exactly what the turtle had said...

"Hello."

The turtle had three googly eyes, an enormous purple body and soaring wings. The first day she taught the turtle how to become invisible. The second day she taught the turtle how to talk to humans.
