

London Landmarks

A long-exposure photograph of the Big Ben clock tower and the Houses of Parliament in London at night. The tower is brightly lit with warm yellow lights, and its reflection is visible in the dark water of the River Thames. The surrounding buildings are also lit up, and the lights from the bridge and the river create a bokeh effect in the foreground. The sky is dark, and the overall scene is a vibrant display of city lights.

London Eye

An aerial photograph of the London skyline. The Shard, a tall, glass-clad skyscraper, stands out prominently on the right side of the frame. The city is densely packed with various buildings, including older brick structures and modern glass-fronted offices. The River Thames is visible at the bottom of the image. The sky is a vibrant blue, filled with large, white, fluffy clouds. A thin white contrail from an aircraft is visible in the upper left portion of the sky. The overall scene captures a wide, panoramic view of the city from an elevated perspective.
