Dear Dragon,

I am writing to tell you that I miss you because it has been 1 month since I have seen you. How are you? Are you being looked after? I bet your dragon friends are being very careful practising how to breathe fire.

The first thing I would like to tell you is what I am missing about you. I miss your cheeky, friendly face, crazy purple hair and enormous, strong tail that can lift me up in the air quickly.

I am trying my hardest to train the other ducklings, but they just don't seem to learn as quick as you! They can't talk to humans or become invisible.

If you have time, can you please try and visit me soon, so we can go on another adventure. What a fantastic adventure that would be!

When you write back, please send it to my mom's address in Birmingham because that is where I live now.

Yours sincerely,

George xx
